MARCH 2009

Long-Term Care Houses

▲ The large kitchens in each house are nearly complete. The cabinet doors are now in place, and the flooring has been installed.

▲ Each house has a spa room with a large shower and unique bathing system. The bathing system features a large reservoir that fills the tub in just 90 seconds with the perfect temperature water. This will save time for staff, and make bathing more comfortable for residents.

▲ Residents, visitors, and staff will enjoy the large living room and dining area of every long-term care house. The large picture windows give residents a nice view of the outdoors.

▲ Visiting for family and friends will be convenient, as the parking lot is just a short walk from each long-term care house.

◀ The community building is located in the center of all of the long-term care houses, and will be the perfect place for large group gatherings. It can also be used for teaching days and conferences.

To maintain the home-like feel, the new houses will not have a nurses' station. Instead, each house will have a multidisciplinary charting room and a nurses' medication room. As you can see, there is ample shelving and counter space for staff.
